OPERATION SAFETY

Join Operation Safety for a month of seminars and events that address laboratory safety, highlight health and wellness, and empower us all to do work safely. This year the Ames Laboratory is joining the National Safety Council and thousands of organizations across the country to dedicate a month to raising awareness about health and safety around the Laboratory.

Each week we will bring you new web content and events to get you thinking about the week's theme.

- Week 1: Stand Ready to Respond
- Week 2: Be Healthy
- Week 3: Watch Out for Dangers
- Week 4: Share Roads Safely

Ames Lab Safety Culture Survey

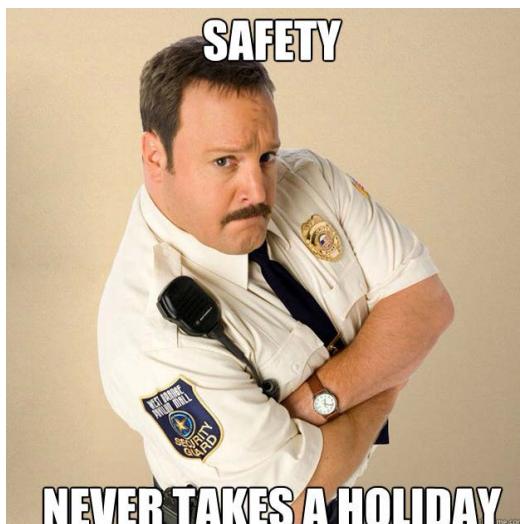

If you haven't already done so (and THANK YOU if you have), please take a few minutes to complete the short Ames Laboratory Safety Culture Survey.

We've been getting great feedback so far, but we want to ensure we get YOUR input. Be a Safety Hero and help improve safety culture at Ames Lab.

The survey closes on June 20, so act now!

Thanks! - Sean

Safety Hero
Your June Safety Hero is... YOU!

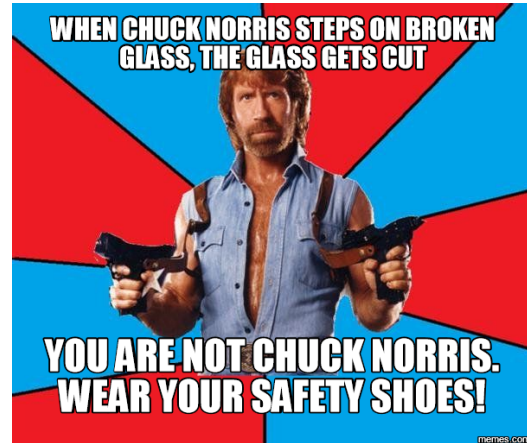

We've had Super Safety Heroes so far this year, but this month is devoted to all of you! Participation in the scheduled safety activities, the safety culture survey, and doing work safely at all times will continue to foster an accident free and healthy workplace. Take a minute today to look in the mirror and say thank you, and pledge to stay safe tomorrow and always.

This is a reminder that Ames Laboratory has a Prescription Safety Glasses Policy located on the website. Please use the link, access the document, and follow the instructions provided within the form to obtain safety glasses.

Please know that regular safety glasses are available in the store room for purchase. Additionally, Chums (restraining straps) are available in the store room for free.
